Swapping the Tariff for Oregon.

From the Wisconsin Argus. "Now if President Polk has it in his head to awap off this worse than ridiculous policy of ours. for Queen Vic's claim to Oregon, or for anything else short of an interminable cholera, in the name of the oppressed millions of our country, we bid him God speed. He might better swap it off for a dead cat and throw in the skin by way of drawback, than retain it. If he can swap our tariff system for Oregon, and give such a title that we can never recover it, as poor an opinion as we have of that country, we think he will be deserving of a

The Madison Argus, on the other hand, as will be seen by the extract above quoted, bids Mr. Polk "God speed" in this precious bargain. Nav if he can only get a "deal cat" in exchange for the Tariff, the Argus thinks that he will entitle him self to a re-election, lindustry, and to counteract the most selfish and Now of what helinous offence has the Whig Tariff | destructive policy which might be adopted by forbeen guilty that the Argus is thus unxious to rid eign nations. If such were the operation of the Whig Tariff: if so unequal and a glast its practical effect, we too would exclaim, with all our localt, "away with it," Paway with it " But who does not know that the charge which the Argus brings against the Tariff is purely fabulous? The assertion that that tixes nine-tenths of the American people out of half their englage" is absurily untrue. Are our Whig Tarit? Mest assurelly not. Are our farmors to be benefitted by such a change? We are content that they decide the question for them.

We believe that the Tariff benefits the Farmer as well as the Minufacturer; that it is upon these grounds that we sustain it; and the experience of the last three years-years of almost unexampled progress and uncloud. ed prosperity - has confirmed us in the faith voo to the Catholics. There goeth up from their greenwood hower
A song of passion, a song of power;
But the sweetest notes they raise
Are those they swell at the opening day.
While the morning winds their branches sway.
Ere the dew and freshness pass away—
Their notes of love and praise.
They stand on every leafy knoll.
Types of the reachess bunan soul
That boweth not to stern control.
For they battle the tempest wild;
But when a gentle tone floats by,

For they battle me temper, what,
But when a gentle time floats by,
And the love-light beams from the azure sky,
They bend like the soul in its purity
To influence sweet and mild.

Importance of Solar Rays to Health.

An able and lucid article in Chamber's Ed. uburgh Journal, after pointing out very sen sibly the necessity not only of light and heat but also of their coming, by radiation, (which is called actinism, from a Greek word signify. ing a ray.) to the proper growth and health of plants and trees, proceeds thus:

"Turning now to the animal economy, we find growth health and development also curiously affected by the absence or presence of the solar influence. Dr. Edwa de has shown that if the tadpoles be nourished with proper food, and exposed to the constantly renewed action of water, (so that their trench cal respiration may be maintained,) but are entirely deprived of light, their growth continues, but formation of these vast level plains and their large tadpoles. He also observes that persons who live in caves or cellars, or in very cark are hable to disease and deformity beyond would produce. It has been stated, on the authority of Sir A.
